SUBJECT: Consensus Workshop Handbook

Enclosed is a compilation of the CBFWA consensus building workshop you participated in on October 18, 2005. The CBFWA staff and I not only appreciate your participation in this process but applaud your willingness to learn new concepts to create agreements for seeking consensus.

In this workshop you learned the introduction to the circle, best and worst outcomes, and an exploration of conflict. You also learned how to develop a shared information base for making wise decisions, which is applicable to the work that you do, but more importantly, will follow you any time a conflict arises. This is a process that can help guide you throughout your life.

Again, we appreciate your participation and hope you will refer often to the valuable work that you co-created as CBFWA moves into the future.
